About our speaker

Katrina
Danenhower

Katrina Danenhower is a writer of the blog Katrina is a Mom, Author of the children's book The Adventures of Dale: School Day (book #2 coming soon!), and mom of two wonderful little boys. Sharing their family triumphs, struggles, and journey with Autism, has created a great passion to advocate and educate.

Katrina has been featured in Autism Parenting Magazine with the piece How I learned to Play With my Son, offering insight on how she overcame her own preconceived thoughts/feelings to connect with her child.

Katrina strives to provide comfort and assurance to other caregivers, while being honest and hopeful.
